

SaaS Solutions for ISVs

Agility in On-Demand Product Development

The Need

According to a recent Gartner survey 9 out of 10 companies plan to grow their use of software-as-a-service in the next year and more than 30% plan to replace on-premises software with SaaS to drive down TCO.

So, how do you make the decision of whether SaaS is right for your company? And if it does, how do you build a roadmap to help you get there successfully?

The Solution

Scio offers comprehensive SaaS consulting and development solutions for all types of software companies.

“By leveraging on Scio’s experience we took advantage of the lessons other companies learned the hard way, which helped us avoid pitfalls and move faster and with greater certainty.”

Targeted Solutions

SaaS start-up companies

Scio starts with your vision, product idea or existing software and effectively transforms it into a SaaS application. We focus on the areas that deliver greatest value to you and your customers, guided by market requirements, key success factors and latest technologies.

ISVs moving to SaaS

Scio begins with your existing software and competently converts it into an on-demand application. We focus on the key issues of the business model, usability and technology that will be essential for the success of your new SaaS application.

Established SaaS vendors

Scio can help increase the usage of your application while reducing overhead and IT infrastructure costs. We understand the core business issues you face and can integrate quickly and seamlessly with your team and operations.
